

Your support sustains the mission

"Great art picks up where nature ends." - Marc Chagall

Embracing this sentiment, Historic Yellow Springs has a rich history of celebrating both artistic expression and the wonders of the natural world. As we fondly look back on last year's achievements and seamlessly carry that momentum into the new year, anticipation fills the air. A sincere thank you to those who generously supported our year-end appeal; your contributions are already propelling us into an exciting future. With innovative programming on the horizon, inviting visitors to engage with history, the environment, and the arts in fresh ways, your support is also playing a crucial role in the restoration of Connie's House—a vital piece of our heritage. To those who have already contributed, our deepest gratitude, and for those contemplating, your support today will continue to mold the vibrant future of Historic Yellow Springs. Thank you for your ongoing commitment, and I eagerly anticipate crossing paths with you again in our charming village.

Warm regards,

2024 Yellow Springs Art Show

Dive into the painterly world of Robert Stack, the talent behind the captivating piece, "Early Spring," selected as the centerpiece for the 2024 Yellow Springs Art Show. With a longstanding presence in the show since 1992, Stack's prowess in equestrian art has become a signature of the Yellow Springs showcase. His winning entry was selected by jury at the Poster Competition and Exhibition in December 2023, securing its place as the visual identity for our upcoming event.

Stack is a native of the Brandywine Valley: birthplace of the luminary Wyeth family and home to a thriving arts community. His artistic journey and perspective are shaped by and reflect the rich influences of the region. The unique blend of traditional techniques, from watercolor to oil, captures the essence of spring in "Early Spring," showcasing Stack's ability to play with light and color in a way that resonates with the viewer.
